Scenario:

You're a retired grandmother and you're worried about catching COVID-19 at your polling place this election. You just moved to Florida, so you're not registered to vote yet. You decide to check out the new online voting application that the government has been touting, so you can register and vote all while looking out for your own personal health.

Task 1: Register to vote, and cast your ballot for your preferred candidates.

Task 2: Check the preliminary results for Florida and determine who is currently winning your state.

Task 3: Browse the FAQ section to figure out how to vote early, since your grandchildren will be visiting on election day and you might be too busy to vote.

Notes:

What should I change in my application?

- The FAQ seemed a bit convoluted, and might be difficult for people to navigate.
- The section between registering and voting seemed a bit too barebones.

What should I leave the same in my application?

- The map was well-done and informative.
- The process of registering to vote was relatively easy and smooth.
